HAWAIIAN VISITORS

EPWORTH LEAGUE AND QUEEN ESTHER MEETINGS—OTHER NORTH GLENDALE NEWS

The Misses Midcalf of 118 South Brand boulevard entertained last Wednesday evening at a beautifully appointed dinner complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stone of Hilo, Hawaii, who have been enjoying a delightful vacation in Southern California. Covers were laid for twelve and a full course dinner was served by the charming hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Stone left last Friday via the steamer Wilhelmina for Hawaii, where Mr. Stone has the responsible position of manager of the Mutual Telephone Company at Hilo.

The Senior Epworth League of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church held one of their regular monthly social evenings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Rice of 1632 Ruth street last Saturday evening. Music, clever guessing games and a general good time was enjoyed by the some twenty young people, who look forward with delightful anticipation to these happy occasions. Delicious hot chocolate and home-made cake were served during the evening by the gracious hostess, who was assisted in entertaining by several of the young ladies of the society.

The Queen Esther Circle of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church held their first regular meeting since the summer vacation last Saturday afternoon at the home of their superintendent, Miss Nan Brown, of 908 Dryden street. Miss Van Dam, field secretary of the Young Woman's Missionary society in the Southern California conference, was in attendance and gave a very interesting talk of the work in general in an especially charming manner, which delighted her young audience. Dainty refreshments were served by Miss Brown, who was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. R. D. Jones. After a social hour the guests departed to meet one month from date, place of meeting not yet decided.

Mr. Frank Olmstead of 1431 North Pacific avenue is at present in Stockton, where he went as one of the ten directors from Los Angeles county to the state supervisors' convention in session there. Mr. Olmstead will also speak before the convention on the storm water conditions, especially in Los Angeles county.

Mrs. William Alston of 1652 Ruth street returned home Sunday after spending the past week in Hollywood, where she was the house guest of her uncle, Mr. Barkley Lyon and family of Sunset boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Drake and daughters, Miss Lulu and Miss Frances, of 1657 Ruth street, spent the week-end at Bellflower, where they were guests of Mr. Drake's sister, Mrs. A. F. Dowe and family.

Mrs. H. C. Lynn of 1021 Melrose avenue and daughter, Mrs. James W. Cooper, of 1017 Melrose avenue, were guests for the day of Mrs. Goldsmidt of Inglewood last Friday.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Eckles of 920 North Central avenue entertained as their house guest for the week-end Mrs. Eckles' cousin, Mr. Frank Simmons, of Redondo.

Mrs. M. N. Barnett, formerly of Kenwood street, is the house guest of Mrs. Pitt P. Hand of North Central avenue at the present time.

Mrs. Frank Olmstead of 1431 North Pacific avenue spent Saturday in Los Angeles, where she was the guest of friends.

Mrs. George P. Reuter of 930 Fairview avenue is confined to her home suffering from a very severe cold.

Mr. D. Harvey of Riverside motored to North Glendale last Friday, calling upon friends while here.

FIESTA CHATTER

Someone said Miss Myrtle Pulliam would wear a Spanish heirloom shawl over one hundred years old in the "Spanish Romance" at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Fiesta next Saturday evening. It has also been rumored that it is worth the price of admission alone to see Col. William Herman West ride a sick horse. Carl Lingham is billed for a take-off on the Irish reel, and Mr. C. L. Peckham's smile, as he gives the blushing bride, Mrs. William H. West, away, is said to be most angelic.

We are not supposed to tell these things, but in this day and age genius must be given voice.

Miss H. M. Johnson has returned from a two months' vacation and is at home in the Kenwood apartments, where she will be pleased to receive her friends.

NEWSPAPER DAY

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA IS TO FLOOD EAST WITH NEWSPAPERS OCTOBER 1

October 1 has been agreed upon as "newspaper day" in California, and everyone is urged to send a copy of some newspaper to at least one friend in the East on that day.

Nearly all of the thousand or more newspapers in the state have agreed to issue something special on that day. If a large per cent of the people do their part in mailing out the papers, the result will be a tremendous boost for this state and a wonderful advertising movement.

The anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News will be ready for distribution October 1. You should send several copies to your friends in the East.

RECITAL AND RECEPTION

The Masonic temple on Brand boulevard was transformed into a veritable tropical garden Saturday afternoon when the friends and patrons of the Cooper School of Music gathered for the pupils' recital, which was given to close the summer session. Although the afternoon was warm, a large and enthusiastic audience was present and thoroughly enjoyed the interesting program that was given.

The long, graceful leaves of the date palm decorated the rostrum and doors. Marigolds and daisies in tall vases were artistically placed on the front of the stage. One corner of the hall was screened off for a dressing room for the use of the dramatic pupils, but so covered with palm leaves that it resembled a fairy garden and all blended together to give the hall a most artistic appearance.

Much enthusiasm greeted the performers, from the tiny tots who opened the program to the older pupils and all showed earnest study.

Many remarked about the easy and graceful manner of the piano pupils and their correct fingering.

The voice pupils showed careful and conscientious study, and while each voice was different, each was pleasing and many words of commendation were received.

The excellent rendition of the readings and sketches given by the dramatic pupils were greatly enjoyed and spoke of careful training by the teacher.

At the close of the program delicious punch was served and a reception was held to enable those present to meet the teachers who will be with the school this winter.

Those assisting Miss Cooper receive were her mother, Mrs. Mary W. Edwards, Miss Lyde Leigh Schiffman, the piano teacher; Miss Lilla Fagge, teacher of violin, and Mrs. Zella Zee Dodge, dramatic teacher.

Miss Lydia Payro presided at the punch bowl.

Following is the program:

MARRIED

In the recorder's court in Glendale Saturday, Sept. 26, 1914, by Judge Whomes, Eddy W. Williams, aged 41, and Irene M. Powers, aged 28, both of Los Angeles.

While scaling a ladder Sunday, Mr. Elliott Jenkins of 730 Glendale avenue fell and severely injured his back. Two doctors were in attendance this morning, but it is not yet definitely known how badly Mr. Jenkins is hurt.

FAREWELL SURPRISE

MISS HELEN TUPPER ENTERTAINS WITH SHOWER FOR MISS ANNA BODE

Miss Anna Bode of 309 Orange street was surprised to learn she was not just one of the guests, but the honored guest at a very delightful party given by Miss Helen Tupper in her home, 114 West Second street, one evening last week.

Miss Bode went to Pasadena this morning to study for a nurse, and as a little surprise and farewell, this merry affair, which was really in the nature of a handkerchief shower for the departing young lady, was planned.

Green and white were used exclusively both in decorative features and delicious refreshments served, and also predominated in the tallies used for Five Hundred, at which Miss Bertha Wakefield and Miss Gertrude Ward won first and second prizes.

At the close of the evening Miss Bode was presented by Miss Ruth Byram with a huge bouquet of fern and what later proved to be beautiful linen handkerchiefs, arranged to represent daisies. These were little farewell tokens from the following friends, who regret seeing her leave: Mrs. A. D. McCoy, Mrs. E. Bode, Mrs. Wallace Tupper, Miss Ruth Coliss, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Leta McCoy, Miss Gertrude Ward, Miss Mina Robertshaw, Miss Bertha Wakefield, Miss Mae McIver, Miss Ruth Byram, the hostess and her mother, Mrs. H. C. Tupper, who assisted during the evening.

Among other wholly agreeable features of the evening were the songs by Miss Wakefield and the slumber party at which Miss Tupper entertained the following: Miss Leta McCoy, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Mae McIver, Miss Bertha Wakefield and Miss Anna Bode.

BUMPER YIELDS OF PRODUCTS

The Western Securities Company reports the following sales of Milford, Utah, lands during the past week: Ada M. Fulford, Pasadena, 80 acres; Joseph Corfman, El Centro, 160 acres; Franklin Smead, Pomona, 80 acres; Arthur Penn, Venice, 80 acres; F. D. More, Long Beach, 80 acres; B. C. Fulton, Chino, 160 acres, and H. M. Bump, 160 acres.

The Salt Lake Railroad Company is now exhibiting Milford valley products in the display windows of the Sixth and Spring street offices. The exhibit consists of a wide variety of fruits, grains and grasses and proves convincingly that a really important new agricultural district has been opened tributary to Los Angeles.

A feature of Milford valley is the peculiarly rich, reddish loam soil that is especially adapted to alfalfa. This soil is practically free from foul grasses which is evidenced by the fact that stands of alfalfa are producing luxuriantly, which have not been reseeded for a period of forty years. These old farms were settled by people who came into the state before the advent of the railroads.

Bumper yields of deciduous fruits are reported from the Milford valley district this season. The elevation and general climatic conditions are conducive to the production of the highest type of apples, pears, plums, etc. As a bean district Milford valley is said to rival the Ventura country of Southern California.

FAMILY DINNER

A delicious dinner was enjoyed at 2 o'clock Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Read, 1456 West Broadway, where in celebration of Mr. Read's birthday members of the family were delightfully entertained. Roses in blended shades of pink adorned the table and places were set for Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Read, Dr. and Mrs. Townsend and two daughters, the Misses Nan and Helen Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Read and their two small sons, Francis and Wilbur Read.

ANOTHER REMINDER

You think it strange that the management of the Evening News calls your attention so often to the conditions upon which subscribers for the Evening News and the Tri-City Progress may receive a copy of the anniversary number free. Our reason for dwelling on this joint so persistently is that all subscribers for these papers may understand that only paid-in advance subscribers will receive a copy of the anniversary number.

When your neighbor receives a copy of the special number of the paper it means your neighbor's subscription has been paid in advance and yours has not. Your attention is called to the index of contents on page 4 of this issue. Copies 25c each.

A LARGE AFFAIR

COURTESY COMMITTEE IS IN CHARGE OF LA FIESTA DINNER

Have you ever wished you could sit down to dinner without the thought of planning and the dish-washing that follows? Or have you any social obligations to fulfill?

If so, remember the Tuesday Afternoon club Fiesta Saturday afternoon and evening at La Ramada, where the regular 75c dinner will be served for 50c in the old adobe and on the beautiful sun porch between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30 p. m.

The following Spanish menu will be served under the management at La Ramada:

Salad, soup, chile con carne, tamales, frijoles, dessert, coffee.

Tables for special parties may be arranged for by notifying Mrs. Daniel Campbell, telephone Sunset 439W, or communicating with any of the following ladies, who are more than busy and have the tickets in charge: Mrs. Luther G. Brown, Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Mrs. A. K. Crawford, Mrs. C. H. Eudemiller, Mrs. H. H. Faries, Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. O. W. Tarr, Mrs. C. H. Toll, Mrs. William H. West, Mrs. C. M. Turck, of Glendale, and Mrs. E. T. Van Etten of Tropico.

MANSFIELD'S MANNER

"Richard Mansfield possessed a dominance that never failed him, I believe. The strange thing about this is that he didn't need it. He had 'fascination' enough without it.

"That fine, dry old manager and good man, A. M. Palmer, and I were once visiting Mansfield at Southampton, and late at night Mr. Palmer would come into my room and we would talk an hour or so. It was always about Mansfield; that was always the way if you were near him; it was inevitable that you could think or speak of little else. One night I said:

" 'I think you understand him as well as any man could.'

" 'Understand him?' The old man laughed in his quiet way. 'There's only one man on earth who understands Richard Mansfield. That's Richard Mansfield.' Then, after a pause, he added with sudden vehemence: 'And he doesn't!' "—Booth Tarkington in Bellman.

ATTENDED CONVENTION

The following ladies from the West Glendale Methodist church attended the annual convention of the Woman's Home Missionary Society in Los Angeles Thursday and Friday of last week: Mrs. J. W. Henderson, Mrs. E. Cook, Mrs. H. L. Adams, Mrs. Dr. Moore, Mrs. M. Cadd, Mrs. E. Hoskins and Mrs. J. H. De Muth. Mrs. Hoskins was on the program, giving an interesting talk on reading circles.

NOTICE!

The legislative section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet with the curator, Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the discussion of the amendments which have been taken up. All members of the club are invited to join in this interesting study.

PTOMAINE POISONING FROM ICE CREAM

One schoolboy, Lester Slayden Robinson, Pasadena, is dead, and two others are seriously ill today as the result, it is believed, of eating ice cream cones purchased in front of the Thomas Jefferson school several days ago.

Young Robinson, who was fourteen years old, passed away late Thursday night, but it was not until yesterday that investigation tended to point to ptomaine poisoning, due to the ice cream, as the cause of the fatality.

The sick boys, who are believed on the way to recovery, are Billy Coombes of East Orange avenue and Dean Birm.

A. Dimitro, who sold the cones to the boys last Tuesday, claims that the ingredients in the ice cream were absolutely pure.

These ice cream venders should be subject to the same stringent sanitary rules as the milk dealers.

DIED

Miss Ida H. Blanchard, daughter of Wm. E. Blanchard, at 1442 Ivy street, Monday, Sept. 28, 1914, at 2 a. m. Funeral Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Jewel City parlors. Interment Forest Lawn.

There are 16,000,000 Catholics in the United States.

FOR FEDERAL JUDGE

RUMOR CIRCULATED THAT MATTISON B. JONES IS SLATED FOR NEW DEPARTMENT

Word comes from Washington, D. C., that Mattison B. Jones has been selected for appointment as judge of the newly created department of the Southern California federal district, according to reports today at the White House.

While nothing official was given out, Mr. Jones was summoned to Washington a week ago, a fact which seems very significant.

The Southern California congressmen have been urging that the position be speedily filled because of the crowded dockets.

Glendale people will be glad to see such a well-deserved honor descend upon one of our citizens.

INSTRUCTIVE READING MATTER

What constitutes interesting and instructive reading matter is an important question for every newspaper publisher to consider. Many writers for papers write as they talk, without giving the subject under consideration much thought. To be of the greatest value to a paper all articles should be written with a view of imparting information. The writer when preparing an article for publication should ask himself the question: "Will what I am having said on the printed sheet impart information to the reader?"

THAT '16 DANCE

Now that everyone is settled again at school, the students' pleasure is again looming into view. This was asserted by a delightful dancing party given in the Masonic temple Saturday evening of last week by the '16 class of the Glendale Union high school.

The class colors, yellow and black, flaunted gayly in the reception hall and ball room, where cut posies and fern were arranged with artistic effect. The programs, too, were significant of the occasion and bore the names of the following patronesses: Mrs. J. F. Padelford, Mrs. David L. Gregg and Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

About seventy-five young people were present.

TROPICO

The all-day meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps Friday last was a most enjoyable affair, as it was also in the nature of a reception to several members of the Post, Corps and Sons of Veterans Camp who have been honored by elective and appointive offices in the department conventions of these three patriotic organizations. Mrs. Delia Hapgood, past president of N. P. Banks W. R. C., was honored at San Diego at the department convention, which was held there a few months since by being elected department chaplain of California and Nevada. Mrs. Mayme G. Pollock, Corps president, and Mrs. Flora G. Pixley, past Corps president, have been appointed department aids. Rev. C. R. Norton, past Post commander of N. P. Banks Post, was elected chaplain of the Southern California Veterans' Association, which held a ten days' session and outing at Huntington Beach last month. H. S. West, past Post commander, and Capt. J. R. Fletcher, junior vice-commander of N. P. Banks Post, have been honored by being appointed aids to the department commander. Wm. A. Goss, treasurer of N. P. Banks Sons of Veterans, was honored at San Diego by being appointed on the division council of the Sans of Veterans Camp of the division of the Pacific coast. Each of these honored members made short patriotic speeches at Friday's meeting following the reception and dinner given in their honor. Capt. L. A. Ross, Post commander, gave a splendid address, taking as his subject some of the most interesting features of his services rendered during his enlistment as captain in the Civil war.

With a table centered with a bowl of white roses and graceful ferns, at which a tempting menu was served, Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Ashton, who but recently took possession of their new home on Central avenue, entertained at dinner complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. C. Robeshaw of Los Angeles recently.

Daniel Webster of the board of trustees of Tropico, who has been visiting in Imperial valley and attending to his numerous business interests there, has returned to his home on Central avenue.

Mrs. Frank I. Marsh was the dinner guest of friends at Hollywood Friday.

AN OPEN LETTER

TO CITY TRUSTEES FOR ATTENTION TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE

Gentlemen: As a resident of Glendale, I desire to call to your attention a condition relative to the Pacific Electric service, which it is evident requires your attention, if the interest, convenience and comfort of the Glendale public is to be considered and provided for.

This condition is the intolerable overcrowding of the Glendale cars leaving Los Angeles during evening hours. The service, as you are doubtless aware, is entirely inadequate—car after car, night after night, week in and week out, for months past, with probably very few exceptions, has carried far in excess of its proper accommodations.

Passengers are compelled to stand in the aisles, open sections and on the platforms of these cars, to be jarred and jolted from Los Angeles, in many cases as far as Broadway, Glendale, before a sufficient number of passengers have alighted to provide the remainder with seats, and to make exit possible in a decent manner.

Passengers—many, sometimes all—taking outgoing cars in Los Angeles even at Spring, Broadway or Hill streets, will almost invariably find all seats taken and are obliged to stand. This condition has been of such frequent and continued occurrence that it cannot be disputed, has been observed by the writer upon many occasions, and has been the cause of widespread complaint and criticism from passengers effected. It is a condition which is not only an imposition upon the riding public of Glendale, but is also detrimental to Glendale property interests and public welfare.

I am not familiar with the condition which prevails at other hours of the day, outside of evening and rush hours, but have been informed that in almost all cases where single cars are run during the day time, that a similar condition prevails, applying to transportation in both directions.

As a matter of fact, the arrangement which now compels transfer of passengers at Brand and Broadway, to North Glendale points, is another inconvenience and a backward movement which North Glendale residents should never have been compelled to submit to, in order to gain for East Glendale patrons the proper service to which these particular residents are entitled, and when combined with this overcrowding of cars during the evening, is a condition which certainly your honorable body will see the justice of taking action to correct.

The rate of fare between Glendale and Los Angeles is admittedly sufficient for the provision of first-class, adequate transportation facilities.

Surely the Pacific Electric Company cannot claim a shortage of cars or operators, for there are certainly an ample supply of each available during the evening hours, if not at all other times.

I would also like to call your attention to the mixed class of cars which are being run on the Glendale division—cars of all ages, kinds and sizes—and in many cases, cars of antiquated type; but so long as the Glendale public and their board of trustees are willing to accept whatever is offered without protest, the city of Glendale will get just exactly that equivalent in service.

Another condition which should be brought to the attention of the Pacific Electric company are the high car steps, without proper facilities at street crossings in Glendale for mounting and alighting—a condition against which the women of Glendale in general are united in their condemnation. Wherever there are three car trains, in particular, this condition is aggravated, because at least one of the cars is stopped at a point where the street is not sufficiently raised, and mounting and alighting is extremely difficult, if not dangerous in many cases.

The writer cannot believe, if the transportation committee of the board of trustees is alert to its duties toward the public, that the conditions to which the writer refers will continue to be tolerated.

Respectfully submitted, with a request for consideration and action.

A. D. SMITH,
110 S. Louise St.

SUMMER SCHOOLS' INFLUENCE INCREASES

Contemporary literature dealing with education in the United States often strikes the note of prophecy concerning better use of the summer months. The coming war on waste includes reform of the "long vacation" period. Children of the cities and the suburbs cannot utilize it for labor to the extent that rural children do, and a majority of the school pupils of the country are urban in environment, using the word urban to include the larger towns as well as the cities. Consequently the more progressive a community's educational program is, the sooner does it reckon with the needs of its children during July and August as well as during December and January.

Equally solicitous is it for wise use of the "vacation" time by the teaching staff, use that implies study of professional problems as well as cessation of school routine. For a teacher to rusticate and do nothing else during vacation may be best in some cases, but it is not the soundest policy for general acceptance; and states that are making provision for summer school attendance of teachers and that are crediting them with work done there are sagacious.

Cities that, like Pittsburg, can provide public school teachers with opportunities to visit academic centers and large cities and for a season to study professional problems and gain cultural ends, profit by the plan.

To explain the swiftly mounting attendance on classes offered in summer by normal schools, colleges and universities it is necessary to reckon with this increased enrollment of public school teachers. They are combining study and play more than they used to. The Journal of Education puts the 1914 attendance at 100,000. More than formerly the South and the West have experimented with the plan, and are finding it beneficial.

If the teacher-pupil were the only persons profiting by the plan it would deserve to work on; but they are not, as the periodical mentioned points out. The teacher who has to teach pupils so many of whom are teachers profits by the contact with an adult, critical, candid sort of learner, who knows what he or she wants and whether it is being furnished, and who does not hesitate to criticize either a given course of instruction or its mode of presentation. Such a test of teaching power, if it works, is an asset for the instruction when he resumes his regular courses in the autumn.

Signs all point to a revised time schedule for schools, colleges and universities of the future, one that is less a matter of tradition and more a product of contemporary needs. There appears no likelihood that the recreational interests of pupils and teachers are to be forgotten during the process of adjustment, for the play element in living and in education now has a theoretical backing not to be overthrown easily. What in all probability will happen, we think, will be a wiser distribution of the work and play periods, and a truer sense of proportion in defining the time and length of seasons of recreation. Moreover, thousands of persons have yet to learn that rest is not synonymous with loafing.—Christian Science Monitor.

Writing paper has generally been substituted for the slates the children formerly used in school. It is more sanitary, and also makes good spitballs.

PREPARING TEACHERS FOR VOCATIONAL WORK

Vocational instruction in the public schools has made a place for itself. Having already won the approval of industrial leaders, it has finally commanded the recognition of progressive educators. After prolonged resistance to the innovation, the New York board of education has just authorized the establishment of at least six vocational schools. New York in this respect, up to the present time, seems far behind other large cities in the United States. However, having adopted the idea, it may be reasonably expected that the chief city of the country will not long be content with less than leadership in this line of civic activity. At all events, the fact that New York has at length accepted vocational training in its public educational service as a necessity is most important as indicating the general trend. Within a very few years the number of vocational classes and schools in the United States bids fair to be multiplied.

Careful students of industrial requirements and conditions will see in this very prospect the need of direction and restraint, if proper balances are to be maintained. The output of skilled workers must necessarily, it would seem, be regulated, or certain popular trades will be overstocked while there will be a shortage in others. Whatever regulation may be called for later from higher authority, it is obvious that for the present those entrusted with vocational training in the schools should themselves be competent to take a comprehensive view of the industrial situation to the end that the graduates they send into the world shall not find awaiting them in their chosen callings depressing competition instead of inviting opportunity.

To meet this exigency the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston is offering this year a new course, that of vocational counsel, the purpose of which is to provide those who would qualify as teachers with a knowledge of industry, of methods of industrial investigation and use of statistics which form the proper foundation for vocational guidance; to supply other training valuable for vocational advisers, and to afford a means for the practical application of the principles and methods studied. This, it appears to us, is a wise and a timely step, and one that promises to be made all the more valuable by the addition of lectures and discussions covering a wide range of practical industrial experience. It is obvious that vocational training can be misdirected and overdone; it is equally obvious, however, that experienced educators have seen this possibility, recognized its seriousness and are making plans looking to its avoidance. The preservation of balance in labor will help toward securing a balance in production, and that is not the least necessary of present-day economic requirements.

DO NOT QUIT SCHOOL

This being the season for the opening of schools in all portions of the state, the papers have been filled of late with columns of most excellent advice to the young people. Most of this was written way above the heads of youth and would have no more effect upon them than the same number of chapters from the Koran, however appealing it may have been to older readers. The following, however, from the Santa Ana Blade, was written by a young man who has not had time to forget his feelings and ambitions as a boy, and the good counsel it contains should appeal to the ones who need it most:

"All over America today many a boy and his parents are discussing at great length and with more or less heat, the grave question of whether or not the son is to be permitted to quit school and go to work. Much of the boy's future depends upon the decision and, unfortunately, most of the boys want to decide it the wrong way.

"The boy has reached the age where he wants to be a man, and having had a job and drawn his little pay check each Saturday night all summer long, the humdrum round of books and studies no longer have an attraction for him. Nine times out of ten the natural inclination for the boy is to keep at work, and 'quitting school' is the realization to him of a dream he has had for years.

"The difference between the boy who goes through his home school and the boy who quits when he gets a job, grows steadily wider as the years roll on. The boy who quits school now will have the advantage of three or four years on his former schoolmate in the matter of making his way in the world, but the other boy will be learning while he is at work, and, later on, when the worker awakens to the fact that he has about reached his limit of advancement because of the limits of his education, he is likely to have the humiliating experience of seeing his school friend advanced over his head.

"Stick to your education, boy, and do as your father and mother say. Your education is going to give you your chance in this world, and without it you are going to be handicapped. The older you grow the more that handicap will be.

"Occasionally you will find an instance where the boy has quit school and climbed to riches and fame, but if he does it will be in spite of his lack of education, and not because of it. You may not see it now, boy, but later on you will and if you quit school you will regret it to your dying day."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

In the morning Elder Francis spoke on the subject, "The Folly of Doing Evil That Good May Come." All the good men may do in later life will not atone for the evil of their youth, sad to say. It is folly to use sinful methods in a good cause for no cause so aided will prosper.

In the evening the parable of the rich man and Lazarus was the foundation for a discourse on "The Man Whom God Will Bless." The rich man had all his blessings in this life and he heeded not in his selfish enjoyment the poor beggar at his door, whom so little aid would have rendered happy. After death the poor beggar received God's blessing and the rich man punishment. We should endure life's crosses cheerfully, knowing that if we are faithful the crown awaits us.

The attendance at all the services was light, showing that a very little discomfort is sufficient to keep many away from God's work when under like circumstances no one would think of neglecting his daily business.

QUAINT OLD WELSH CUSTOM

One of the quaintest of all Welsh customs is the unsheathing of the sword of Taliesin that takes place every year on the shores of Llyn Geirionydd, near Trefriw, North Wales. A short distance from the lake is a large flat-topped bowlder, supposed to have been Taliesin's pulpit. On this rock the old bard (who is said to have flourished about 540 A. D.), performed his weird religious rites, and ever since the rock has been known as the "Court of Taliesin." Once a year, in August, a group of bards assemble at the "court"—the chief bard standing on the rock and the others on a circle of white stones surrounding it. Here the rites are performed solemnly and quaintly in the presence of a large crowd. The naked sword is returned to its sheath when the chief bard has ascertained from the people that there is peace in the land. The sword remained unsheathed during the three years of the Boer war. The ancient ceremony is followed by witty and humorous bardic addresses, recitations and songs.

DRY FEDERATION CHORUS

The Dry Federation chorus, which met for the first time at the high school Monday evening, was represented by between fifty and sixty men and women who will be directed by Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan and accompanied by Mrs. Paul Butterfield for concert work during the Dry Federation meetings and lectures to be held and given at the high school on the evenings of September 24th, October 1st, October 22nd and November 2nd. Some very fine work promises to be the result of conscientious rehearsals.

BIG RETURNS FROM NEWSPAPER COPY

It is reported that a western dealer of the Saxon Motor company placed an announcement costing $70 in his local paper, telling of the arrival of the Saxon car in his city. A flood of inquiries followed, by telephone, letter and in person, and total sales in four days amounted to $69,145, a return of $1,326.50 for every dollar invested in advertising.

EGG AND POTATO SALAD

Hard cook three eggs, remove the shells and chop the eggs very finely, whites and yolks together, using a silver knife to prevent the eggs being discolored. Cook three medium-sized potatoes, cut into dice while hot and mix with the eggs. Then add French dressing and season with salt and pepper. Serve very cold on a bed of watercress.

GETTING PERSONAL

Willie—Paw, does it take two to make a quarrel?

Paw—Yes, my son.

Willie—Well, ain't a man and his wife one?

Paw—Yes, my son.

Willie—Well, why—

Paw—You beat it to bed, Willie.

The United States is not merely posing as a neutral—it is in reality a neutral in its relations to the great war beyond the Atlantic.

While much of the rest of the world has been going awry, California climate has been peaceful, mild and genial this year as usual.
